REPORT BY MISS ALLER.

Pride, my friends, is a sinful emotion. There is a great deal said in the Bible against it and nothing at all for it. But I do not know how I can express my feeling on this occasion, otherwise than to say I am very proud to welcome you to our newly furnished parlor and home. Perhaps it would be better to say that it is with a thankful feeling and joyful satisfaction that I welcome you here to-day. But whatever we call it that is the way I feel. You are aware that the winter has been one of peculiar irial to me and to us all. Your thoughful kindness and consideration in refurnishing these rooms is therefore peculiarly acceptable and refreshing. This kindness I choose to take as a token of renewed interest in your Alma Mater. I look upon it as a new expression of your love for her and your loyalty to her, and your confidence in her future. This has been mainly done by a few, but if you will allow me I would like to set before you the claums of your dondlence in her future. Do you ask me what are the aims and purposes with which we are carrying on this work which your Trustees have committed to our care? Let me briefly an lower.

Ist. Then our specific and particular aim. REPORT BY MISS ALLER

At the close of a delightful and hurmonious meeting the following resolutions were read by Miss Allen:

Resolved, That in the departure of Miss Mamie Lenington for her chosen work in Brazil, this institution loses a most valued and successful teacher, who is to us, her associates, also a much beloved younger sister. That in resigning her to the higher claims of the foreign work, we do so with heartfelt interest in that work, and we follow her with our most earnest interest and prayers for her success in her future work.

A demented woman probably thirty or thirty-five years of age, came to this place last Wednesday evening and stopped at the Shimp Honse. She would not give her name correctly. Each time she was asked she would give a different name, nor would she tell where she came from, but it is supposed she came from Cincinnati, as she seemed to have a great deal to say about people and things of that city. She said she made a great deal of noise and talked too much, but would do no harm. She said all the doctors in the United States were under her command and would come at her bidding. She spent all her time singing in a high pitch and talking to any one who would talk to her. She was taken to Hillsboro on Thursday.

The next thing on the program was a talk by the pastor, but the children had already encroached on his time and, as he good-naturedly remarked, cheated him out of his talk. In a few words he spoke of the importance of children signing the pledge and announced that in two weeks he would preach from Genesis 4th chapter and 9th verse, "Am I my brother's keeper?" after which all would have an opportunity of signing the pledge. A great many were there from neighboring churches and we think were well pleased with the exercises. The church was filled to its utmost seating capacity, the vestibule was crowded with persons standing and quite a number were unable to gain entrance. At a late hour the benediction was pronounced and the people dispersed to their homes.
